

We are proud of all that MAB Community Services has accomplished this year in helping individuals with disabilities lead full and satisfying lives.

We've made progress training individuals to use emerging technology to help compensate for vision loss. Our collaboration with the Massachusetts Commission for the Blind, Massachusetts Association of Councils on Aging, and Elder Affairs is growing. MAB Community Services' board member Elaine Ellenbogen's generous gift, establishing the Ellenbogen Assistive Technology Center in Natick, brings the total number of Massachusetts Association of the Blind and Visually Impaired (MABVI) assistive technology centers to four and counting. Being able to use technology is essential to be a full participant in society in this day and age. You need to be proficient in using technology to e-mail your grandchildren, buy something on Amazon, or schedule a ride on Uber.

Changes have also taken place at the Ivy Street School that continue to strengthen the effectiveness of our programming and improve our outcomes. The focus of the school is on giving students the skills and experiences they need to lead successful lives as adults, so we are particularly pleased to see that 70% of our graduates can navigate their communities independently, 75% are connected to social networks, and 60% are aware of volunteer and job opportunities in their communities. Over 97% of Ivy Street students report having at least one friend.

At MAB Adult Disability Services, we're hard at work in building a mission driven workforce committed to supporting persons with disabilities to have the lives they want for themselves. We're investing in staff development to strengthen program management and to help staff move up the career ladder. We're creating a work environment that will encourage staff to stay with MAB long-term despite the opportunities open to them in a strong economy. We couldn't achieve all we have without our exceptional staff and the many dedicated volunteers and supporters who help each of the individuals we serve pursue their idea of happiness.

Surrounded by

Anath passed away this year surrounded by the people she loved most, her family of origin and her family at MAB Community Services.

Anath was born in Israel in March of 1954. Her parents sacrificed to bring her to the Boston area and in 1960 her younger sister Talya was born. Her parents lovingly cared for Anath and gave her a sense of humor, curiosity, and compassion. Talya was raised the same.

"I am so proud of what Anath accomplished in her life — no merit badges, no world records, no straight A's — but she touched people deeply and changed them. Anath embraced life in a kind and gentle way, and in her own style."

—Talya Nevo-Hacohen, Anath's Sister

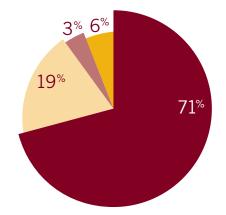

Anath's life was bigger than the MAB Community Services group home she lived in. She was a part of the community. She voted at Holy Name Parish, she loved shopping, getting mail, and going to dances at the Dimock Health Center with her group home friend Charlie. Anath loved all sports.

Her sister Talya's transformational gift to launch MAB's Person Center Planning initiative allowed other residents to have similar opportunities.

Talya thinks big too.

Marion is the first to "graduate" from her specialized courses at MABVI's Assistive Technology Center in Worcester and is using what she has learned to give back. Marion volunteers with a local immigrant organization and has found technology to be a great way to communicate.

"I teach immigrants and I wanted to express a word or a phrase to them. So, I found a language translation app and downloaded it from the settings. It has been amazing. I am sitting with a student, and I type in the word "beautiful" which is announced to them in their language. You should see their smiles. It is wonderful to be with them when they catch on to their new language."

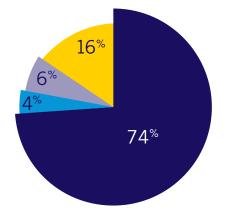

Thanks to seed funding from Worcester's Memorial Foundation for the Blind, Massachusetts Associations Commission for the Blind, Massachusetts Council on Aging, and the Highland Street Foundation technology is a click away for many seniors in the area.

"My goals are high. This program has done a wonderful thing for me. It has kept my mind busy and going strong. The instructors have been patient with me. I learned so much faster than I thought."

 Marion is the first graduate to complete a training course at the Assistive Technology Center in Worcester. She carries her iPad with her all the time and uses it to help others.

Changing Perceptions One Mile At A Time

For 25 years, Team With A Vision (TWAV) has been supporting amateur athletes who are blind or visually impaired, sighted guides, and charity runners to run the Boston Marathon. With the support of the community and volunteers TWAV creates unique opportunities while raising critical funds for the Massachusetts Association for the Blind and Visually Impaired. Our team members broke records, achieved celebrity status, and set new standards in the blind and visually impaired division. Mike Castle from Detroit, now living in France, ran Boston 10 times and won the division an impressive 5 times. Jennifer Herring from Metuchen, New Jersey has the longest running streak in the visually impaired division of the Boston Marathon, having run the race 15 times and placing in the top three, 14 of those outings. Newton's own Barbara Lischinsky has run with the team for a decade and was recognized in 2006 by Saucony as a "Saucony" 26". Our mission has spoken to so many, particularly individuals who have established themselves within their industry and gained the opportunity to guide one of our athletes: Ultramarathoner Scott Jurek, "Wait, Wait... Don't Tell Me's" Peter Sagal, blogger Heather Armstrong, distance runner Michael Wardian, and the world record holder of 7 marathons in 7 days on 7 continents Belmont's pride, Becca Pizzi.
